

The background of the entire page is a top-down photograph of various artichoke and thistle plants. Several green artichoke hearts are visible, some whole and some partially cut. There are also several thistle flowers, including one prominent purple one in the lower left. The plants are scattered across a light-colored, textured surface. A thin, curved green line is drawn across the lower half of the page, framing some of the artichoke and thistle elements.

Medicinal Plants & Herbs: Trusted Quality in a Complex Landscape

At Aplantis, we specialize in high-quality medicinal plants and herbs that meet the rising demand for clean-label, functional ingredients across food, beverage, dietary supplement, pet food, and feed applications. Yet in today's global market, these ingredients face increasing scrutiny - both from regulators and consumers - due to widespread issues of adulteration, mislabeling, and inconsistent quality.

For example, ingredients like turmeric and saffron are frequently compromised. Turmeric has been found adulterated with fillers such as chalk powder, starch, or even synthetic dyes like Sudan I, while saffron is often diluted with safflower petals or colored with unauthorized substances. These practices not only reduce efficacy but also pose potential health risks and legal exposure.

At Aplantis, we take a science-driven, transparent approach to sourcing and quality assurance. Our in-house and certified lab partners conduct rigorous, batch-specific testing using advanced analytical techniques. Our team ensures full regulatory compliance with EU and international standards, backed by complete traceability from source to shipment.

We don't just deliver ingredients - we deliver trust & safety. Thanks to strong partnerships with trusted growers and a fully integrated quality management system, our medicinal plants meet the highest standards for safety, potency, and consistency.

We are Aplantis. Nature supplied in perfection.
